COLORADO VIRTUALLY UNDER MARTIAL LAW

arrests Made by Military and Strike Leaders Imprisoned

Victor, Colo., Sept. 18.—At midnight last night, one hundred soldiers visited a meeting of the free miners on at Altman, and arrested seven of the most prominent union men in the district. The prisoners are W. F. Davis, M. A. Shidler, T. C. Foster, Victor Pool, P. H. Mullaney, E. S. Johnson, and Charles R. Beckman. A guard was thrown around the meeting place and the officers announced that every man before would be allowed to depart, would have to submit to an examination. No specific charge has been placed against the prisoners. They are held under the same conditions as other men who have been arrested since the arrival of militia in the district. All three members of the executive committee in charge of the strike, Kennison, Parker and Davis, are now confined in the military guard house and other men have taken charge of the strike.

Flynn

Slated for Frisco Attorneyship if He Will Accept

An Oklahoma City rumor is to the effect that ex-Delegate Dennis Flynn has been offered and has notified the Frisco management of the acceptance of the position of solicitor for the system in Oklahoma. Should the announcement prove true it will necessitate the removal of the ex-delegate to Oklahoma City where the Oklahoma headquarters of the Frisco are located for the present.

Mr. Flynn has been in the territory the past week coming from New York, N. Y., last Sunday, spending the day here and leaving for Oklahoma City Monday evening. It is believed he has been in conference with L. T. Parker, general solicitor of the Frisco, during the week. Regarding the acceptance of the position which has been tendered him Mr. Flynn is quoted as having said:

"I am not seeking office, and the question of the effect my occupation might have in politics does not give me any concern. If I had desired to remain in office I would have stood for re-nomination last year. If I accept the place offered me I shall devote all of my time to the practice of law. My law practice has been a sort of side issue with me for several years, but I have always had a desire to devote my whole attention to it."

Accompanying the announcement that the ex-delegate will become the Frisco attorney is the news that a law partnership will be formed with C. B. Ames, one of the stalwart democrats of the territory.

The position with the ex-delegate will assume if he accepts, has been held the past year by Judge A. G. C. Brier of the law firm of Dale and Brier of this city. Judge Brier's interests, however, are in Guthrie and because of his other railroad work it is impossible for him to remove to Oklahoma City.

Ex-Delegate Flynn has been a resident of Guthrie since the opening of the territory and was the first postmaster of the city.

Mr. Flynn came to the city this afternoon from Kingfisher. "Yes I have made all arrangements to move to Oklahoma City," said Mr. Flynn. Mr. Flynn will be Oklahoma solicitor for the Frisco and will form a partnership with C. B. Ames. Mr. Flynn is recovering.

Mr. Flynn was in close conference with Frisco Attorney Brier this afternoon.

Harper Cunningham Has Good Thing

Judge H. S. Cunningham arrived home last night from Patagonia, Arizona, well bronzed and weatherbeaten. He walked from the station in a top or mid single-foot, indicative of altitudinous mountain climbing.

"I want to say," said the judge, "that we have a world-beating silver mine. It will prove a gigantic winner. We are stopping now. Jim is in full charge and is making good."

Mr. Cunningham will remain here until after the Scottish Rite consistory meeting. He will then go to Washington to attend the Masonic Supreme council, thence return to Arizona.

Cripple Creek, Sept. 18.—Three hundred men brought from Michigan iron mines to take the places of striking miners here came through Denver. The passage of these men to the gold camp was made with a heavy guard. A strict guard is maintained at all points on railroads of the district where it is thought damage could be done with explosives or fire.

C. G. Kennison, president of Miners' union No. 46, and member of the executive council of the Western Federation in this district, was arrested by Colonel Leonard C. Jones of the governor's staff, by order of General Chase, and placed in the military guard house. It was announced at headquarters that several days ago Kennison was instructed to keep away from the lines, but that today he got through the lines at the Stratton Independence by saying that he had been instructed to go by Superintendent Cornish. He was loaded the lines when arrested.

It is further stated at headquarters that Kennison had a revolver and box of cartridges on his person and claimed to be a deputy sheriff, though he had no commission.

Curtis Jett

Will Have to Face Another Witness to Feud Murder

London, Ky., Sept. 18.—Sheriff McChord, of Clark county, who arrested Curtis Jett for the Marcus murder, today arrested Charles Green, chief witness in the Coker case at Cynthiana. Green is said to have seen Jett fire the fatal shot. He has been fleeing from the officers ever since the trial was called. He told his wife he was going to Canada to keep from being assassinated by Jett's friends, but he went to his father-in-law's home at Cynthiana. When McChord called, Mr. Gentry, Green's father-in-law, said Green was not there. McChord insisted on searching the premises and Gentry admitted him. When McChord drove up to the place Green was standing at a window with a revolver but he did not shoot. Green was taken to Cynthiana today. He is considered the most important witness for the commonwealth in the pending trial.

Grand Leader's Opening Display

The grand fall opening sale of the Grand Leader, which was inaugurated last night, proves to all that Messrs. Hirsch & Kaufman are correct in their claim that the Grand Leader is the "fastest growing store in Oklahoma." A stream of customers, especially ladies, has been pouring in and out of the store all day, each heaving a package containing some of the many bargains offered in this big advertisement in the Leader yesterday. The dressmaking and millinery departments of this big store have been especially attractive to the ladies, all anxious to take advantage of the low prices on these elegant goods, which, as a matter of fact have been cut to the lowest possible margins. The people of Guthrie and the territory adjacent, should be proud of the big Grand Leader store, for it always has just what you want and at prices that suit you.

The announcement that the fall opening would occur last night drew forth a crowd that jammed the spacious establishment. The latest fall and winter goods, including many importations direct from Europe, were tastefully displayed and won the admiration of the sightseers. Music for the occasion was furnished by an orchestra from the Cavalry band.

Governor Ferguson Booked Far Ahead

Governor and Mrs. T. H. Ferguson returned last evening from a territorial trip after being absent from the city since Tuesday morning. Speaking today of the general conditions of the territory as he has found them on his travels this summer he said:

"The conditions throughout the territory are splendid. The farmers have just finished marketing a splendid crop and the evidence of prosperity and good feeling is doubled when one remembers the number of carnivals, celebrations and reunions that are being held in nearly every city in Oklahoma. There is not much talk of statehood. The question is not being agitated. I believe Mr. McGuire will do everything possible at the session of congress to have the statehood bill passed. Statehood is due our people and it is wrong to refuse it. For my part I would rather live in a democratic state than a republican territory, or in a republican state than a democratic territory. It is an injustice on the part of congress to refuse us statehood."

The territory's wealth, the class of people and the intelligence of the masses is surprising. I would like to see the reasons of any congressman who would vote against admitting Oklahoma to the union of states.

Governor Ferguson will leave Tuesday afternoon for Cushing, where he is billed to speak at an old soldier's reunion September 22. He will speak at Ralston, September 26, and on route home will stop at Pawnee where he will speak October 2. He will be at Shawnee October 7, and at El Reno October 8. He received an invitation today to address a G. A. R. post at Dallas, Texas, but as yet has not accepted. It is quite probable he will not be present at the Wichita carnival as Secretary Grimes will leave soon for his vacation.

ILLINOIS VETERANS Remembered With Another Monument to Civil War Valor.

Bloomington, Sept. 18.—One of the most notable events to the fall among the old soldiers of Illinois was the unveiling at Greenville today of a magnificent monument to the memory of 1,200 deceased veterans. Lieutenant Governor W. A. Northcott, presided. Governor Richard Yates, General John C. Black, National Commander of the G. A. R. and other noted orators were present and delivered addresses.

Dr. Harriett Hulick will move to Oklahoma City next week.

Earthquake

Shock Produces Dumb Ague of Fear at Santiago

Santiago Cuba, Sept. 19.—The most violent earthquake since 1885 occurred here early today. The earth shook for fifteen seconds, but there were no undulations. Many people rushed into the streets and cried and prayed. Bricks and plastering dropped in all directions and a few walls fell. Nobody, however, was injured.

Mrs. Ferguson's Yes! Decided Governorship

A newspaper woman who has made her husband governor is Mrs. Thomas B. Ferguson, the wife of the governor of Oklahoma, says the Kansas City Journal.

The most interesting chapter in Governor Ferguson's political career is the one in which his wife figures most prominently. From the time of her marriage Mrs. Ferguson took a keen interest in newspaper work, and when in 1892 she and her family moved to Watonga, O. T., in Blaine county, she was active in starting, with her husband, the first paper in the county, which they christened the Watonga Republican. Through the eight years following, and they were not easy years for the Oklahoma pioneers, Mrs. Ferguson was unremitting in her efforts to advance her husband in the political career she had determined on for him. She developed political sagacity, and made many men of influence her friends and admirers.

In 1900, while her husband was secretary of the territorial Republican committee, his wife had entire charge of the paper, and with the conduct of the paper's share in the local campaign.

The result was an unprecedented Republican victory. About this time Mrs. Ferguson established a branch office of his paper in another town in Blaine county and was himself in charge of it, while his wife continued the business at Watonga. While there a telegram came to his home asking him if he would accept the appointment of governor. Without a moment's hesitation Mrs. Ferguson wired her husband's acceptance of the offer, and then, calling him up by telephone, congratulated him as the governor-elect of Oklahoma. Mr. Ferguson's political aspirations had not been in exactly that direction, but after a short interview with his wife he saw the wisdom of the step, and left immediately for Washington, from where his appointment was forthcoming within a few days.

In her domestic and social life Mrs. Ferguson is quite as successful as in the public life in which her husband's position places her. She was greatly saddened three years ago by the death of her little daughter, but has found consolation in looking forward to the careers of her two sons. The elder of them, Walter, was graduated last June from Westworth Military Academy and was immediately appointed to a cadetship at the United States Naval Academy. He is at present serving as rifle inspector of the Oklahoma militia and has recently been appointed as assistant commandant teacher in military tactics in the new military school at Oklahoma City. The younger boy, Thomas, who refuses to be called by his name, but answers only to "Trad," is still in the public schools, and he and his two constant attendants, two bird dogs, are familiar characters to everyone in the Oklahoma capital.

In person, Mrs. Ferguson is small, and decidedly brunette in her coloring. She has a gracious presence, and social qualities so charming that she makes of her husband's house the social as well as the executive center of the territory.

Harmless Bluff Failed to Work

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 18.—Martin Erickson, who was said to be insane, entered the Scandinavian-American bank yesterday, walked up to the window of the cashier and demanded $500,000, stating that unless his demands were complied with he would blow the bank with nitroglycerine. He exhibited a small bottle which he claimed contained the explosive. He was about to make a demonstration when arrested. The contents of the bottle proved to be harmless.

Climbed Tree Top Committed Suicide

New York, Sept. 19.—Floyd Knox, aged 25, disappeared from his home in Hillsdale two weeks ago while temporarily insane from the effects of a sunstroke. He has just been found dead in the woods by hunters. Knox had climbed a tall tree, securing himself there and then committed suicide by shooting.

GREAT BRITAIN CONFRONTED WITH POLITICAL DILEMMA

Chamberlain's Resignation Plunged Country Into Turmoil

The Powers

Will Undertake to Restore Peace in Turk's Domain

London, Sept. 19.—The Associated Press learns that war between Turkey and Bulgaria is not now regarded as imminent by foreign officers or other diplomatic circles in London. It is stated that under no circumstances will the powers permit Turkey to occupy Bulgarian territory, hence Turkey has nothing to gain by hostilities.

Regarding renewed rumors that a British fleet is going to Turkish waters the Associated Press is officially informed that as Balkan matters have been left in the hands of Russia and Austria, such action is not contemplated by Great Britain or so far as known, by any other power. In the meantime, the powers are daily exchanging communications with the view of determining on some possible means of restoring order in European Turkey.

THE NINTH CRUSADE.

Is there to be a ninth crusade of Christian soldiers against the Turks? A few months ago the question would have been absurd enough. But now, in view of the plans which are being considered by Knights Templars at Chicago, the inquiry bids fair to be answered in the affirmative.

The Knights Templars of the United States number something more than 50,000. Only a certain proportion, of course, would go to Bulgaria in the event of the formation of a military league. But this organization, should it decide on such a movement, could furnish a very considerable force. It is a safe to say that the Templars of America and Europe could put at least 100,000 men in the field against the infidels.

Such a crusade would be scarcely inferior in numbers, and markedly superior in other respects, to any of the eight principal movements for the recovery of Jerusalem from the Saracens.

The first crusade, which was undertaken in 1095 and which was led by Godfrey de Bouillon and other nobles, comprised about 100,000 men. It was the most successful of the crusades. The second, led by Conrad III, of Germany, and Louis VII, of France, in 1147, was strongly in numbers but poorly organized. The third, by Frederick Barbarossa, of Germany, and Richard Coeur de Lion, of England, was less imposing and almost wholly ineffective. The fourth crusade, which was undertaken in 1210, on a tremendous scale, frittered itself away in petty feuds and dissensions. The last four of the crusades were relatively unimportant.

It is not remarkable that the Knights Templars, who trace the origin of their order back to the Latin kingdom of Jerusalem, and whose oath requires them "to fight the enemy of Christ, even unto death," should be deeply moved by the news of the Macedonia massacres, and should plan a movement against the Moslem oppressors. Time alone can show whether the agitation of this crusade is to be taken seriously. But it is certainly an interesting example of historical recurrence; and it may yet be a determined factor in the eastern situation.

Cured Hemorrhages of the Lungs.

"Several years since my lungs were so badly affected that I had many hemorrhages," writes A. M. Ake of Wood, Ind. "I took treatment with several physicians without any benefit. I then started to take Foley's Honey and Tar and my lungs are now as sound as a bell. I recommend it in advanced stages of lung trouble."

It costs just an even $100 to keep a saloon open in Shawnee on Sunday. If you are caught.

London, Sept. 19.—The political crisis is still the sole topic of discussion in the United Kingdom. Premier Balfour is expected to have an audience with King Edward at Balmoral today, when, doubtless he will present the nominations for the cabinet vacancies. The exact nature of these appointments still continues a matter of varied surmise. Regarding the eventual result of the upheaval, the Spectator forecasts that Mr. Balfour, even he appears to the country will be ousted and succeeded by a Roseberry cabinet, which will not last long, attracts the greatest attention. A curious phase of the situation is the severe criticism, regardless of party lines, bestowed on Mr. Balfour's action in publishing his views and selling them in pamphlet form. The premier's keen sense of civility and honor is far too deeply appreciated by all parties to ever permit the suggestion that he purposefully adopted a doubtful practice. By Mr. Balfour's own admission he is a "mere child in such matters," and his experience in business affairs now appears to have him at the mercy of the publishers of the pamphlet, who are coining money over a vital issue in national affairs. That Mr. Balfour will devote his portion of the proceeds to some charity is generally supposed, but it is regretted he did not mention some such intention in the preface of the pamphlet. The Outlook which is a warm supporter of the premier, declared Mr. Balfour's indiscretion at a rude blow at one's reverence for the traditions of English public life.

The newspapers this morning are crammed with discussions and speculations regarding the political situation brought about by the resignation of Mr. Chamberlain, Chancellor of the Exchequer. Ritchie and Lord George Hamilton, but no fresh developments have as yet been announced. The Marquis of Lansdowne, regarding whose intentions there is the greatest interest, has gone to Balmoral as a volunteer in attendance on the king. Both political parties have already commenced active preparations for the coming campaign and the opinion is sought of every man of prominence at home and in the colonies whose ideas are likely to have influence.

Mr. Asquith, who is by many regarded as the future leader of the Liberal party, telegraphed yesterday:

"The situation in all its essentials is unchanged. The duty of the liberals to defend free trade is plain and urgent as before."

The opinion of the colonies is anxiously canvassed as being the most important one, the premier of the Austrian commonwealth, has declared in an interview that he is convinced that Mr. Chamberlain will ultimately triumph and that till that triumph is achieved there will be no real union of the empire.

The Standard today anticipates that Mr. Balfour will have at least four cabinet seats and two or more under secretarieship at his disposal, and strongly urges him to make a clean sweep of the discredited ministers and appoint men of real ability, even such men as Lord Milner.

Governor Ferguson apparently is still somewhat concerned over the identity of the "fellows" who recently advanced the claim of being the "real thing" in the so-called Republican organization. Through his newspaper, the Watonga Republican, he inquires:

"This religious weekly still wants to know who they are and where they are. Some time ago a certain territorial appointment was made and certain astute ones remarked that the governor 'had not consulted the fellows.' Now it had always been a religious conviction on the part of a constituent of commerce that the fellas constituted the great big splendid public party, but there seems to be a lurking suspicion in the minds of some that the 'fellows' were a few forward ones who, before the month stars sang their euphonious lullaby to the universe, before light had been evolved from darkness, before cadences and conventions had been conceived in the mind of the architect of passing events, had been predestinated and foreordained to boss things, get all the offices and eat all the pie. We still stick to the original text, that the 'fellows' are the Republican party in Oklahoma and not a few imaginary 'leaders.' (?)"

Sanitarium

Given Clean Bill of Health by Examining Committee

The quarterly report of the board of examiners appointed by Governor Ferguson to inspect the conditions of the Oklahoma Sanitarium at Norman submitted their report to the governor this afternoon. The report is as follows:

Hon. T. H. Ferguson,
Governor of Oklahoma.

Sir: Your committee appointed to visit and inspect the asylum for the insane at Norman, submit the following report:

We visited the institution on September 17th as directed by you, and made a very careful examination of the whole place. There are now confined in the asylum 423 patients. We find the general conditions about the same as at our last visit. The health of the inmates is remarkably good, there being but 11 on the sick list at this time and most of these are chronic cases.

The sanitary condition is as good as it is possible to make it. There is no complaint from inmates or attendants of the quantity or quality of food or clothing. The medical staff and attendants are competent and well adapted to the positions which they occupy.

The asylum is still over-crowded, though this condition has been relieved to a considerable extent by completion since our last visit of a new two story building which accommodates about 75 patients. There is an addition to one ward in course of construction, which will still further relieve this condition.

The hospital is very small and inefficient, not worthy the name. There is no hospital for women. This is a very bad feature which should be corrected.

The water is good, and the management is now providing for a greater supply.

A new cesspool has been constructed, which is a great improvement over the old one, disposing of the sewerage very effectively and removing for the present at least any cause for criticism or complaint.

Your committee has made careful inquiry into the charges of immoral conduct referred to in your letter of instructions, and finds no evidence to sustain the charges.

Very respectfully submitted,
E. H. COOKE, M. D.,
R. F. HAMILTON,
JNO. W. WERNER.

Will Investigate Iowa Irregularities

Des Moines, Iowa, Sept. 19.—A committee of attorneys appointed by the four judges of Polk county district court to investigate certain charges of irregularities, reported this morning recommending criminal prosecutions against Ed Hunter, promoter, banker and politician; Michael Draddy, ex-alderman; R. F. Coffin, county clerk; Fred Cope, county auditor.

The charges against Wells and White grow out of a recent trial in which it was alleged the jury was tampered with. The two county officials are charged with irregularities in the drawing of jurors.

LIPTON'S CONDITION.

Chicago, Sept. 19.—The condition of Sir Thomas Lipton early today was declared by his physician to be entirely satisfactory, notwithstanding a restless night, which had been expected as a phase of the disease.
